BRAVO BAHRAIN! Home Team Stun Iran With Hardan Goal

Bahrain National Stadium thundered with cheers last night as Mohamed Yusuf Hardan's 66th minute Goal shattered Iran's aura of invincibility. With the win on Tuesday, Bahrain now at the top of Group C on seven points, while Iran is in third place. The noise subsided for a few seconds as the crowd waited with bated breath, setting their sights on Hardan who was preparing for what would be the most important moment of the match. Hardan's shot went beyond Iran goalkeeper Ali Reza reach and into the net, sending the anxious spectators into a frenzy.

REFRESH YOUR MINDS !

In line with its continuous endeavours towards boosting employees' knowledge, PR Department is pleased to share with you a couple of interesting facts on a weekly basis under the theme of "Refresh Your Mind"!

SCIENCE

COVERT CLOUD

A cloud of microbes all your own follows wherever you go, hanging in the air around you. The cloud is totally unique to you—everyone gives off a different amount and combination of the invisible bacteria. Someday scientists might be able to identify the room you've been in based on the microbes hanging in the air.

TRAVEL DESTINATION

ZERMATT, SWITZERLAND

Formed some 44 million years ago, the Swiss Alps make up the youngest, most densely populated mountain range in Europe. At the base of the Matterhorn, Zermatt located in Switzerland is home to an igloo village where guests can spend the night. In 2016, the resort unveiled a three-story igloo made up of some 1,400 snow bricks—the world's largest ice dome, with the Guinness World Record to prove it.

WILD LIFE.

SIAMANG

The siamang, a kind of ape in the gibbon family native to the forests of Indonesia, Malaysia and Thailand, can inflate the vocal sac on its throat to be as big as its head. The sac makes the siamang's calls louder.

SAFETY FIRST

Kindly discuss the below weekly theme of Safety Hour amongst yourselves in order to sustain the safety momentum.

This Week's Theme:

Water Heater Safety.

Water heater safety is rarely something you think about. In fact, most people don't think about their water heater at all. It's an easy appliance to take for granted. It sits in a closet or somewhere else in your home and quietly does its job. It is essential to check your water heater regularly before any incident occur. Always remember that malfunctioned water heaters could electrify the water, causing a deadly electric shock hazard.
