CINEMA WORLD

GONE WITH THE WIND

"Gone with the Wind" was immensely popular when first released in December 1939. It became the highest-earning film made up to that point, and held the record for over a quarter of a century. When adjusted for monetary inflation, it is still the highest-grossing film in history. The film was placed in the top ten of the American Film Institute's list of the top 100 American films since the list's inception in 1998. The owner of the film "Turner Entertainment Company" estimated its adjusted earnings at $3.3 billion in 2007.

WILD LIFE

BLUE WHALE'S HEART BEATS

For the first time, researchers have managed to record the heart rate of the largest animal that has ever lived on planet Earth, the blue whale by placing electronic sensors on its body. When diving, the whale's heart slowed to 4 - 8 beats per minute and a minimum of two beats per minute. When the whale was at the bottom of the ocean feeding, that heartbeat raised 2.5 times more than the minimum, and then gradually slowed again. When it rose back to the surface and breathed in oxygen, the whale increased its heart rate to 25 - 37 beats per minute, a rate that is "near the estimated maximum heart rate possible".
